

It can happen to you.

Your hard-earned business reputation rides on the acts of your employees while they represent you on your customers' premises.

If they act dishonestly, you could be held responsible.

As a prudent business person you may already carry standard fidelity coverage. While this protects you from dishonest acts your employees commit against you, it may leave your customer unprotected. Dishonest acts your employees commit against your customers are often specifically excluded from fidelity bonds.

But with the Business Services Bond you are protected against liability and at the same time can offer your customers bonded security.

Four reasons why you need a Business Services Bond:

1. It protects you from loss caused by your employees' fraudulent or dishonest acts on your customers' premises, once the culprit has been convicted in a court of law.
2. It discourages employee dishonesty because your employees know — if they betray your trust — they'll be facing the certainty of investigation by the bonding company.
3. Your customers will be glad to know your employees are bonded.
4. Its low cost makes the protection of a Business Services Bond a reasonable and valuable addition to your business' insurance coverage.
